22. CYPRIPIEDIUM caudatum.

C. sepalis oblongo-lanceolatis acuminatis extùs pubescentibus, petalis lanceolatis extùs pubescentibus in acumen longissimum caudiforme productis, labelli ore hirsuto.

Hab. in Peruvia; In herbario Ruizii et Pavonii Limæ conservato invenit Mathews, et Hookero misit.

I have only seen one mutilated flower of this extraordinary plant, obtained at Lima, from an herbarium of Ruiz and Pavon, and sent by Mathews to Sir W. Hooker. The petals are nearly 8 inches long, while the sepals are about 5 inches long.

23. There is also in Sir W. Hooker's herbarium a second species, taken by Mathews out of the same collection, but it is too imperfect to be introduced here.
